

STUFF & THINGS

THE LOST FUNERAL

LONG COPY

Ernest Potts & Reginald Fowler - two incompetent, irreverent and yet excessively charming undertakers – are en route to a funeral service. In accordance with the last wishes of the deceased, they transport their coffin via some of the deceased favourite haunts for one last visit. All is, however, not entirely as it seems..... The duo have become hopelessly lost - not helped by their incorrect map, spinning compass and broken sextant – and they have been separated from the rest of the mourners. Worse still, the coffin is starting to emanate an ever-increasing cacophony that threatens to reveal their secret skullduggery...

SHORT COPY

Ernest Potts & Reginald Fowler have become hopelessly lost en route to a funeral service - and worse still their coffin is emanating an ever-increasing cacophony that threatens to reveal their secret skullduggery....